07 How this report was made

OI The 5th house of children

Aarav, the 5th house, Putra bhava, is the house of children, creativity and the legacy you pass on. This report reads it gently and honestly. It describes tendencies and themes, and it never predicts anything about whether, when or what kind of children anyone will have.

Dhanu on the 5th

Your 5th house is Dhanu (Sagittarius), a fire sign of wisdom, faith and generosity, with a Sarvashtakavarga score of 27, just under the traditional strong line of 28. Its lord is Guru, who is also the natural significator of children in Jyotish, and he sits in your own Lagna. When the lord of the 5th house joins the 1st, children and family are closely tied to your sense of who you are.

Rahu sits in your 5th house in Purva Ashadha pada 4. Rahu here traditionally brings something unconventional to this area of life: children who think independently or follow unusual paths, a modern approach to parenting, and sometimes a family life that takes its own shape rather than following a template.

- ♦ The 5th lord Guru, natural significator of children, sits in your Lagna: family is part of your identity.

O2 Guru, the significator of children

Your Guru

Your Guru is in Simha at 0°08' in your 1st house, in Magha pada 1, in the sign of a friend, and combust, close to the Sun. He rules your 5th house and also your 8th. Guru in the Lagna gives a naturally teaching, guiding presence; you are likely to be the parent who explains, encourages and wants a child to understand the reasons behind things.

Combustion traditionally means a graha's qualities are present but need conscious expression. For you that suggests making time with family a deliberate priority, because the rest of your busy Simha chart will compete for it.

O3 The Saptamsa (D7)

Your Saptamsa

The Saptamsa (D7) is the divisional chart for children and lineage. Your Saptamsa Lagna is Kanya (Virgo), an earth sign of care, order and attention to detail: a practical, attentive approach to family life.

In the Saptamsa, Mangal sits in Makara (Capricorn), his sign of exaltation and the 5th sign from the Saptamsa Lagna. An exalted Mangal in the 5th of the D7 is traditionally a strong and energetic signature for children, often linked with courage and drive. Guru sits in Simha in the Saptamsa, and Shukra, Budh and the Moon gather in Tula, which adds warmth and harmony to family relationships.

♦ In your Saptamsa, Mangal is exalted in the 5th: a strong, energetic signature for children.

O4 You as a parent

Warm, protective and fair

Your Simha Lagna makes you warm, generous and protective; you are likely to be proud of your family and to want the best for them. Your Moon in Tula brings fairness and a dislike of conflict at home, and your 4th house, Vrishchika, ruled by Mangal in your Lagna, describes a home with depth and strong loyalties.

The balance to watch is between high standards and patience. Simha expects a great deal, and your Mangal in the Lagna reacts quickly. Your Tula Moon and teaching Guru are the natural counterweight: explain more, react less, and let praise lead.

O5 Periods for family

No chart gives a date for a child, and this report never will. The tradition does describe periods it considers favourable for family life.

Dashas and transits

You are in Guru Mahadasha until 26 August 2027. Guru is the lord of your 5th house and the significator of children, so the tradition regards this whole period as favourable for family. In your Shani Mahadasha, the Guru Antardasha from February 2044 to August 2046 is the next period ruled by the same graha.

Jupiter's transit over Simha, your Lagna, from 31 October 2026 to January 2027 and from June to November 2027, traditionally brings blessings and support from elders, and from the Lagna its aspect reaches your 5th house of children.

06 Traditional practices

For Guru

Thursday is Guru's day. Traditionally, families wishing for blessings on children recite the Santan Gopal mantra or the Vishnu Sahasranama, offer yellow flowers or sweets at a temple, and give to education or to children in need. Respecting teachers and elders is itself a classic Guru practice.

These are expressions of faith and gratitude, not medical measures. For anything about health or fertility, please speak to a qualified doctor.
