08 How this report was made

OI Your Big Three

Sun in Leo

Your Sun is in Leo. The Sun describes your core identity, vitality and the purpose you grow into, and you express yourself warmly and generously, with pride, creativity and a wish to be seen. On a tired day the same energy can tip into a need for applause; noticing it is half the work.

Moon: your emotional nature

Your Moon is in Libra. The Moon describes your feelings, instincts and what makes you feel safe. In Libra, feelings move gracefully and fairly, through partnership, balance and good taste.

Your Rising sign

Your Rising sign, the Ascendant, is Virgo at 0°03'. It shows how you meet the world and new situations: carefully and usefully, through skill, analysis and quiet service. People often see this side of you first, before your inner nature becomes clear.

How the three work together

Your key signs span fire, air and earth: you have several colours, and different sides come forward in different settings. Fire gives enthusiasm, courage and the spark to start things. Air gives perspective, communication and an easy way with people and ideas. Earth gives practicality, patience and the ability to make ideas real.

O2 Your planets in signs and houses

Sun in Leo

Your Sun is in Leo at 21°44', in the 12th house. Sun describes your core identity, vitality and the purpose you grow into. In this sign it works warmly and generously, with pride, creativity and a wish to be seen.

The 12th house is about solitude, rest, the unconscious and quiet service; this is where these themes most often show up. Give time each week to something that is truly yours, and let your confidence grow from doing it.

Moon in Libra

Your Moon is in Libra at 26°32', in the 3rd house. Moon describes your feelings, instincts and what makes you feel safe. In this sign it works gracefully and fairly, through partnership, balance and good taste.

The 3rd house is about communication, siblings, neighbours, short journeys and everyday learning; this is where these themes most often show up. Notice what restores you, and build small, regular routines of rest and comfort around it.

Mercury in Virgo

Your Mercury is in Virgo at 3°42', in the 1st house. Mercury describes how you think, learn, speak and connect ideas. In this sign it works carefully and usefully, through skill, analysis and quiet service. Mercury was retrograde at your birth, which tends to turn its themes inward for reflection before action.

The 1st house is about self, body, first impressions and how you begin things; this is where these themes most often show up. Write things down, ask one more question, and choose words with the same care you give your ideas.

Venus in Virgo

Your Venus is in Virgo at 3°45', in the 1st house. Venus describes love, friendship, pleasure, taste and what you value. In this sign it works carefully and usefully, through skill, analysis and quiet service. Venus was retrograde at your birth, which tends to turn its themes inward for reflection before action.

The 1st house is about self, body, first impressions and how you begin things; this is where these themes most often show up. Make room for beauty and for the people you appreciate, and tell them so.

Mars in Virgo

Your Mars is in Virgo at 19°01', in the 1st house. Mars describes drive, courage, desire and how you assert yourself. In this sign it works carefully and usefully, through skill, analysis and quiet service.

The 1st house is about self, body, first impressions and how you begin things; this is where these themes most often show up. Channel energy into a clear goal and regular movement, so it builds rather than flares.

Jupiter in Leo

Your Jupiter is in Leo at 23°52', in the 12th house. Jupiter describes growth, faith, generosity and where opportunity tends to open. In this sign it works warmly and generously, with pride, creativity and a wish to be seen.

The 12th house is about solitude, rest, the unconscious and quiet service; this is where these themes most often show up. Say yes to learning and generosity, while keeping promises to a size you can keep.

Saturn in Aquarius

Your Saturn is in Aquarius at 2°08', in the 6th house. Saturn describes discipline, responsibility and the lessons that build lasting strength. In this sign it works independently and inventively, through ideals, friendship and the group. Saturn was retrograde at your birth, which tends to turn its themes inward for reflection before action.

The 6th house is about daily work, health habits, routines and service; this is where these themes most often show up. Pick one long commitment and keep showing up; steady effort is where this placement pays back.

Uranus in Capricorn

Your Uranus is in Capricorn at 10°19', in the 5th house. Uranus describes originality, freedom and sudden insight. In this sign it works patiently and responsibly, through structure, ambition and long effort. Uranus was retrograde at your birth, which tends to turn its themes inward for reflection before action.

The 5th house is about creativity, romance, play, children and self-expression; this is where these themes most often show up. Allow yourself experiments, and keep a stable base from which to try them.

Neptune in Capricorn

Your Neptune is in Capricorn at 14°26', in the 5th house. Neptune describes imagination, ideals, compassion and spiritual longing. In this sign it works patiently and responsibly, through structure, ambition and long effort. Neptune was retrograde at your birth, which tends to turn its themes inward for reflection before action.

The 5th house is about creativity, romance, play, children and self-expression; this is where these themes most often show up. Give imagination a real outlet, such as art, music or service, and check dreams against facts.

Pluto in Scorpio

Your Pluto is in Scorpio at 17°38', in the 3rd house. Pluto describes deep change, inner power and what you transform. In this sign it works intensely and privately, with depth, loyalty and a talent for renewal.

The 3rd house is about communication, siblings, neighbours, short journeys and everyday learning; this is where these themes most often show up. Let go of what has run its course, and use your depth to rebuild with purpose.

03 The major aspects

Aspects are the angles between planets: they show how the different drives in you talk to each other. The tightest aspects are the strongest, so they come first.

Mercury conjunction Venus

Mercury conjunction Venus (orb 0.1°). These two work as one: their themes fuse, which gives focus and intensity, and asks you to give each its own space at times. Here it joins how you think, learn, speak and connect ideas with love, friendship, pleasure, taste and what you value.

Mars sextile Pluto

Mars sextile Pluto (orb 1.4°). An easy, cooperative link that opens opportunities when you act on it. Here it joins drive, courage, desire and how you assert yourself with deep change, inner power and what you transform.

Sun conjunction Jupiter

Sun conjunction Jupiter (orb 2.1°). These two work as one: their themes fuse, which gives focus and intensity, and asks you to give each its own space at times. Here it joins your core identity, vitality and the purpose you grow into with growth, faith, generosity and where opportunity tends to open.

Moon sextile Jupiter

Moon sextile Jupiter (orb 2.7°). An easy, cooperative link that opens opportunities when you act on it. Here it joins your feelings, instincts and what makes you feel safe with growth, faith, generosity and where opportunity tends to open.

Neptune sextile Pluto

Neptune sextile Pluto (orb 3.2°). An easy, cooperative link that opens opportunities when you act on it. Here it joins imagination, ideals, compassion and spiritual longing with deep change, inner power and what you transform.

Sun square Pluto

Sun square Pluto (orb 4.1°). A creative tension: the two pull in different directions, and learning to use both builds real skill. Here it joins your core identity, vitality and the purpose you grow into with deep change, inner power and what you transform.

Uranus conjunction Neptune

Uranus conjunction Neptune (orb 4.1°). These two work as one: their themes fuse, which gives focus and intensity, and asks you to give each its own space at times. Here it joins originality, freedom and sudden insight with imagination, ideals, compassion and spiritual longing.

Mars trine Neptune

Mars trine Neptune (orb 4.6°). A natural flow and an inborn talent; the gift is real, and it grows when you use it on purpose. Here it joins drive, courage, desire and how you assert yourself with imagination, ideals, compassion and spiritual longing.

Sun sextile Moon

Sun sextile Moon (orb 4.8°). An easy, cooperative link that opens opportunities when you act on it. Here it joins your core identity, vitality and the purpose you grow into with your feelings, instincts and what makes you feel safe.

Moon square Saturn

Moon square Saturn (orb 5.6°). A creative tension: the two pull in different directions, and learning to use both builds real skill. Here it joins your feelings, instincts and what makes you feel safe with discipline, responsibility and the lessons that build lasting strength.

O4 Chart patterns and balance

Your chart contains 1 notable pattern. Patterns form when several planets make one geometric shape together, and they show the chart's central story.

Stellium

Stellium: Mercury, Venus and Mars in Virgo, in the 1st house.

A stellium gathers three or more planets in one sign, concentrating much of the chart's energy in one place: a strong focus and a clear signature.

Element and modality balance

Your chart spreads its ten planets across the elements as fire 2, earth 5, air 2, water 1. The strongest element is earth. Earth gives practicality, patience and the ability to make ideas real.

The least represented element is water. With little water, naming feelings, even privately in a journal, helps them flow.

By modality: cardinal 3, fixed 4, mutable 3. Fixed emphasis shows a sustainer: you build, hold and see things through.

05 Strengths and challenges

Your strengths

Earth gives practicality, patience and the ability to make ideas real. This is the strongest element in your chart, so this quality comes naturally to you.

Mars sextile Pluto (orb 1.4°). This easy flow brings drive, courage, desire and how you assert yourself together with deep change, inner power and what you transform; use it on purpose.

Moon sextile Jupiter (orb 2.7°). This easy flow brings your feelings, instincts and what makes you feel safe together with growth, faith, generosity and where opportunity tends to open; use it on purpose.

Neptune sextile Pluto (orb 3.2°). This easy flow brings imagination, ideals, compassion and spiritual longing together with deep change, inner power and what you transform; use it on purpose.

Mars trine Neptune (orb 4.6°). This easy flow brings drive, courage, desire and how you assert yourself together with imagination, ideals, compassion and spiritual longing; use it on purpose.

Areas for growth

With little water, naming feelings, even privately in a journal, helps them flow.

Sun square Pluto (orb 4.1°). This tension asks for balance between your core identity, vitality and the purpose you grow into and deep change, inner power and what you transform; giving time to both is the way through.

Moon square Saturn (orb 5.6°). This tension asks for balance between your feelings, instincts and what makes you feel safe and discipline, responsibility and the lessons that build lasting strength; giving time to both is the way through.

Challenging aspects are often the source of the greatest achievements, because they ask for effort and growth.
